B&W Energy Services is proud to announce the completion of services with Bechtel Power on the Cricket Valley Energy Center. This plant, located in Dover, NY, contributes to the environmentally-responsible process of converting clean-burning American natural gas into electricity, powering nearly one million homes and providing employment to the community. B&W's complex cleaning work on the Cricket Valley Energy Center included servicing three large, separate units under GE Technology. The scope, including chemical cleaning and engineering, continued through July 2019. This project served as a cornerstone for B&W, the Dover community and New York as a whole. B&W was thrilled to demonstrate the safety-oriented and high-quality services we are known for.
